

Supporting the next generation of innovators

Future talent scholarship

At bp, our purpose is to reimagine energy for people and the planet. To succeed, we need to inspire and support the next generation of industry innovators. This is what our future talent scholarship is all about.

Open to students studying in the US, our future talent scholarship program provides a fascinating introduction to the energy industry. It will support your undergraduate progress, while helping you learn more about the opportunities an integrated energy company can offer you. You'll also gain skills and knowledge that will help you apply for one of our internships in the future, and we'll provide financial support towards your education.

Applications are now open. Learn more, and apply today!

